Elders Quorum (EQ) and Relief Society (RS) Presidency Members:

Handbook, Section 21 – “Elders quorum and Relief Society presidencies help ministering brothers and sisters learn how to minister to others. They also give inspiration, guidance, and support.”

- Discuss ward ministering needs and plans in regular presidency, ward council, and youth council meetings.
- Prayerfully consider ministering assignments, review with bishop, and extend assignments. Frequent review those individuals \(including youth\) and households not yet assigned.
- Meet quarterly with each ministering brother or sister and their companion – preferably held in person and with both members of the companionship.
- EQ and RS presidencies meet at least quarterly together to review what they have learned in ministering interviews and to coordinate ministering assignments. The assigned high councilor is encouraged to attend.
- EQ and RS presidents meet at least quarterly with the bishop to discuss the needs of ward members and possible changes in ministering assignments. The RS president meets with the bishop monthly. The EQ president meets with the bishop regularly.

Every Elder, RS Sister, and 14+ Age Youth:

Handbook, Section 21 – “Ministering brothers and sisters are not called, sustained, or set apart. Their service is part of the covenant they made at baptism (see Mosiah 18:8–11).”

Bishops and other ward leaders teach all ward members to:

- Meet quarterly with a member of the EQ or RS presidency – please make this easy for your presidency members!
- Minister to each assigned family – consistent, personal visits plus other means of contact and acts of service \(D&C 20:47, 53\)
- Minister with your assigned companion – including youth companions.
- Encourage personal visits and contacts from your own ministering brothers and sisters – please make it easy to be visited and ministered to!
